

Faith Nadya Mootoo
fmootoo@teaneckschools.org

Poster Session 1:30-2:30 pm
Teaneck High School- ESL

Multimedia, Historical, and Scientific Applications from Literature

A. Novelist John Steinbeck and marine biologist Ed Ricketts collaborated in 1940 to write the Sea of Cortez: A Leisurely Journal of Travel and Research, a travelogue of their six-week voyage along the Baja California peninsula and a serious investigation of the adjacent Sea of Cortez (also known as the Gulf of California.) We went on an expedition in our ESL 3 class and investigated the life processes of many sea creatures while studying the novel, The Pearl. PowerPoints will address marine biology. A board will display additional activities such as HSPA persuasive essays, descriptive paragraphs, and artwork based on the text.
B. Mary Blehl introduces us to the Revolutionary War as it happened in Hackensack, Fort Lee, and other areas of New Jersey in this historical fiction, A Spy is not a Spy Mary Blehl's historical fiction, A Spy is not a Spy will be presented via music, videoclips, PowerPoints, and multimedia applications, highlighting The American Revolutionary War. A board will display additional activities such as essays and artwork based on the text.
PowerPoints/Revolutionary War A Spy is not a Spy by Mary Blehl General George Washington The Delaware River The Battle of Trenton The Hudson River The Hackensack River The Battle of Princeton General Cornwallis	PowerPoints /Marine Biology The Pearl by John Steinbeck Turtles The Vampire Squid The Starfish The Great White Shark The Seahorse Jellyfish

--	--